

Saint John

John was the bishop of the church at Ephesus. He was exiled to Patmos and then returned.

Tradition claims that John is the only disciple to have died a natural death, at great age. Various attempts were made on his life, one of which was an attempt to poison his drink once while in Rome. When John took the cup, the poison disappeared in the form of a serpent.

St. John's Feast Day is December 27.

